

Joe Flanigan Filming SyFy Original in Ireland

Stargate: Atlantis favorite Joe Flanigan will once again be in front of the camera; and this role seems quite familiar. Flanigan is currently in Ireland filming a SyFy original titled The Other Side where he will star as the character Colonel Sam Synn. We'll have to wait and see if he's anything like the Atlantis commander we're all used to.

The movie's premise is that a device has been made to glimpse other realities, but it doesn't quite work the way it's supposed to. Instead, it transports the group observing the first presentation to an alternate reality. The group must work together to repair the damaged machine if they have any hope of getting back home; all the while fighting man-eating creatures that inhabit this world.

RHI Entertainment Distribution, LLC is heading the film. The company specializes in made-for-television movies, series, and miniseries. They have been responsible for some of my favorites, such as 10th Kingdom, 20,000 Leagues Under the Sea, Alice, and Never Let Her Go, as well as many others.

Starring alongside Flanigan will be Dagmar Doring as Doctor Jillian O'Hara, John Rhys-Davis as Senator Jackson Crenshaw, Catherine Walker as Doctor Karen Fast, Yare Jegbefune as Lt. Rivers, Rob Soohan as Brian Murphy, and Chris Newman as Pvt. Jordan Reid.
